My Story

Josephine Anderson Pearson

During Commencement 1914 I was called from Commencement Missions to National Service Training.

Women's Suffrage

Women's Suffrage has brought the article to the forefront of American politics. As a member of the American Women's Suffrage Association, I have worked tirelessly to secure the right to vote for women. The struggle has been long and arduous, but we have never given up.

A Resume

Woman Suffrage

Women's suffrage has been a long and uphill battle. As a member of the National American Woman's Suffrage Association, I have been a vocal advocate for women's rights. Our ultimate goal is to secure the right to vote for all women.

When in 1909 I went to Washington to see the draft of the Constitution, it was revised to include the right to vote for women. Some instructors in my courses had so inspired me that I felt it was my duty to be a part of this movement.

In the spring of 1913, I was appointed to the position of Director of the Women's Suffrage Association. I have been working tirelessly to secure the right to vote for women.

In 1917, when the war broke out, I was called to serve in the Red Cross. I have been working to provide care and support for soldiers and their families.

In 1920, the Nineteenth Amendment was passed, granting women the right to vote. It was a momentous occasion, and I was proud to have played a part in this historic event.

I have been a vocal advocate for women's rights throughout my life. I have been involved in many organizations and have worked tirelessly to secure the right to vote for all women.

The Amendment, as we have shown, was not meant to be a charter for the female sex. It was meant to be a charter for all women. The women of the United States, as a whole, are not equal to men. They are not equal in the eyes of the law. They are not equal in the eyes of God. They are not equal in the eyes of society. They are not equal in the eyes of their own families.

The Amendment was meant to be a保障 for women's rights. It was meant to be a protection for women's lives. It was meant to be a safeguard for women's health. It was meant to be a safeguard for women's education. It was meant to be a safeguard for women's property.

The Amendment was meant to be a safeguard for women's suffrage. It was meant to be a safeguard for women's voting rights. It was meant to be a safeguard for women's citizenship. It was meant to be a safeguard for women's equality.

When the President announced me in session and the National Press Association, I could not believe it. I was overcome with the honor. It was impossible to explain. I have been receiving congratulations from the President since the announcement. The President's words were so moving that I was brought to tears. I was deeply moved by the President's speech. It was a great honor to receive such recognition.

Thevark of the Opposition to Federal Suffrage in Tennessee:

In your defense of the Federal Suffrage Bill, I know that those who oppose it do so in good faith. I am not one of these. I have always been a strong advocate of the principles of democracy and believe that the Federal Suffrage Bill is a step forward in the right direction. I have voted for it in both the House and Senate and I will continue to do so in the future. I am not one of those who believe that the vote is a privilege that should only be given to men. I believe that every adult citizen, regardless of sex, should have the right to vote. The Federal Suffrage Bill is a step towards实现 this goal.

My Story

Josephine Anderson Parson
The world was waiting on the corner for my father's speech. I remember the words he said:

"At the cross, where I once drew the line, and priced my soul with gold, now it lies defiled. Where my feet once trod the paths of sin, now I walk in light."

Tears filled my eyes as I listened to my father's words. He spoke of redemption and forgiveness, and how we must turn away from our sins and seek the grace of God.

I couldn't help but feel a sense of relief wash over me. The weight of my past mistakes had been lifted, and I knew I was a new creation in Christ.

The August 20, 1939, issue of the Tennessee State Library and Archives Newsletter includes an article titled "My Story" by Josephine A. Reppen, a former Tennessee State Librarian who was also the first woman to hold the position. The article discusses her experiences and reflections on her time at the library, including her role in promoting women's suffrage and her advocacy for the rights of women. The article is a reflection on the progress made for women's rights and the challenges faced during that time.
